

Not For Profit—Financing, Development, Acquisitions and Sales

Counsel for Not-for-Profit Organizations

The attorneys at Federman have extensive experience representing a variety of not-for-profit organizations, including, without limitation, educational organizations, churches, synagogues and other houses of worship, and museums. Given its vast experience, the firm has the ability to counsel leadership and its members/constituents and provide guidance through the countless potential pitfalls of a transaction as well as the approval process, both with respect to internal governance matters, as well as obtaining any required approvals from applicable governmental agencies, including, without limitation, approval of the attorney general's office and/or the court, as required by applicable law.

Supporting Not-for-Profit Organizations Through Complex Real Estate Redevelopment

It is not uncommon for not-for-profit organizations to find themselves constantly fundraising in an effort to keep up with increasing costs relating to both operations, maintenance and repair of property. In many instances, the attorneys at Federman have assisted by assembling a team of professionals to guide the organization through the process of redeveloping their property with an experienced real estate developer, facilitating the transfer of development rights associated with the property to the developer in exchange for a newly constructed, built-to-suit condominium unit housing the corporation (and the varying programmatic needs thereof), which would be owned by the organization in perpetuity, and cash considerations, to establish an endowment for the future upkeep of the newly constructed premises. Having the opportunity to represent both developers and not-for-profit organizations on projects of different sizes and scopes, the firm has the ability to adequately protect the organization from the risks associated with failed development projects, while assisting in assuring the organization's ability to remain in its present location, which often times, represents decades (or even centuries) of history at the applicable site.

KEY CONTACTS

Partner

Lee D. Edelson

VIEW BIO

Partner

Jeffrey D. Friedman

VIEW BIO

Related News & Insights

ALL NEWS & INSIGHTS

---

Insights

Leasehold Condominiums in New York City: A Powerful Tool for Landlords, Institutional Users and Nonprofits

New York City's real estate market has long produced creative ownership structures designed to address high land values and the needs of institutional...

READ MORE

---

Insights

Why Foreclosures Take So Long in New York City: Structural Causes and Current Timelines

In New York City, a mortgage foreclosure often takes years rather than months. The primary reason is structural: New York is a judicial foreclosure state,...

READ MORE

---

Insights

No Matter How You Slice It: Lessons in Business Succession From a Century Old NYC Institution

Elyse L. Schajer, Esq., Partner Business succession planning for closely held businesses determines whether ownership, leadership, and control transition...

READ MORE